the city jail last evening, between 8 and 7 o'clock, when the officers were at supper. Foreman had been kept upstairs in the day and at night removed to a cell below. It was while he was confined up-stairs that he removed the pins which hold the door on, and made good his escape. Officer Morse discovered his flight upon his return from supper and immediately notified all the nearby cities by telephone. The officers think it will be but a short time until Foreman is landed back in jail. Foreman has a ponitentiary sentence staring him in the face for robbing the Cupit residence and the officers have him connected with sev-

Postal Inspectors and Patrolmen Are "Cutting It Up" at Ogden.

Ogden Dec. 13.—The failure to effect the arrest of "Charles Price," the mystorious stranger who called at the postofice Saturday afternoon and asked for his mall, expecting to receive the newspaper with $2410, delivered the afternoon before to Mr. Price at Five Points, is a source of great disappointment to local officers. Chief of Police Browning had given instructions to patroliment to remain in close touch with the postoffice employees during the day, and postal inspectors who were sent to the city from Salt Lake were also supposed to be watching the postoffice here and at Five Points.

The blame for the failure to make the arrest, after the stranger "walked right out again," appears to rest more upon the shoulders of the postal inspectors than the police department.

At any event, the stranger called for his mail and, observing the disconcertment of the employees of the postoffice which his arrival there had caused, hurriedly left and, after lending Assistant Pastmaster Rufus Garner and a patroliman a merry chase through alleys, boarded a Washington avenue car and made his escape from the Salt Lake & Ogsien railroad depot on a passenger train bound for Salt Lake. The last second walked the samper was at Woods Cross, and his capture probably will never be effected.

PORTLAND POLICE GIVE FIRST CLUE TO ROBBERS

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Dec. 13.—A telegram was received by the police department from the chief of police of Portland, Or., late this afternoon inquiring for a description of some of the bills found wrapped in a newspaper by Charles Price of Five Points, Priday afternoon. The description of the two $500 bills tailies exactly with bills of that denomination stolen from a Portland bank December 7, according to the telegram. The Portland efficer wired that three men were known ing to the telegram. THREE FUNERALS HELD IN THE JUNCTION CITY

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Dec. 13.—Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Nora Young, wife of Joseph Young, were held from the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. F. Carver conducted the services. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was in Mountain View cemetery.

A large number of friends and relatives of the late Mrs. Leah Smout gathered in Richey's funeral chapel Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock to attend the funeral services which were conducted by Rev. W. W. Fleetwood, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd. Mrs. Smout was one of the pioneers of Weber county. She died at home in Slaterville last Thursday. Interment was in City cemetery.

Rev. Noble Strong Elderkin, paster of the Congregational church, conducted the funeral services over the remains of P. M. Jones at 2.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Richey's funeral chapel, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The members of the Typographical union, of which the deceased was a mem-ber, attended the services in a body. The remains will be sent to his old home at Omalia next Thursday for burial. Mr. Jones was suddenly stricken with heart failure while I work early Friday morning in the composing rooms of the Morning Examiner, this city.

OFFICERS ON WATCH FOR ESCAPED PRISONER

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Dec. 13.—Sheriff B. B. Wilson received a telephone message from the officers at Park City Sunday to be on watch for Ben Foreman, who escaped from the fail at that city Saturday night. Foreman was arrested in this city September 17 by Sheriff Wilson charged with horse stealing. The animal was found in his possession at a local livery and returned to its owner in Park City with the prisoner. Foreman was to have been given a preliminary hearing Monday, but in some way not explained in the message managed to effect his escape from the dilapidated prison. He is said to be a desperate fellow and some trouble may be expected before his recapture.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 12.—Charles Phillips, a cowboy, yesterday, in the district court, entered a plea of guilty to the crime of criminal assault on 14-year-old Mary Crosby, and was remanded to the custedy of the sheriff to await sentence. The penalty for the crime is from one year to life imprisonment.

Phillips, who is 21 years of ago, early in September induced the Crosby child, who is large and unusually developed, to leave the home of her sister and accompany him to a rooming house, where he kept her for a week before he described her and fled from the city. While they were at the rooming house, the girl posed as his wife, and even after the police located her, the day of her desertion by Phillips, she continued this pretense for a time.

Phillips remained at liberty until about a forthight ago, when he was caught at Sianer. Neb.

Pete Dickerson, the cowboy charged with criminal assault on Mrs. Dora M. Conness, was agraighed this morning, pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for December 14.

E. C. Fitzmorris, charged with larceny, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for December 18.

An information, charging Dorothy Hickman with incorrigibility, was filed by Prosecutor C. M. Watts this morning.

PURCHASES REMAINDER OF BOG MINING STOCK

Special to The Tribune.

AMERICAN FORK, Dec. 13.—During the past week Dr. H. J. Holden of Cleveland, O., was successful in acquiring the remaining 45 per cent of the Bog Mining company's stock, he having secured the other 55 per cent some time ago. The purchase price is given out as $5000 and other considerations. The property was purchased from Ed Hipes, who was the original locator. The company owns eighteen mining claims, ten of which are patented, and they adjoin the Mineral Flat. A long tunnel has already been un into this group, and some fine specimens of galena ore have been secured.

Dr. Holden, who has done considerable mining in this section, has great faith in the Bog property and expects to make of it a big mine. For some time Holden has been shpping ore in a paying quantity from the Dutchman mine, which he also owns, and which up to three months ago was operated by the Wild brothers of this city, under a lease.

Big Shipment of Ore.

AMERICAN FORK, Dec. 13.—The Sunday mine, located in American Fork enuyon, has just completed the shipment of three and a half tons of ore, which gave the owners returns of a slight margin over $2500. This ore is of a similar character to that which was taken out in the early days from this same mine. The vein from which this ore is being taken is not large, but it is the firm belief of the owners, who are Salt Lake people, that it will increase in size as they get nearer the contact, for which they are now working. YOUNG WOMAN BITES "PHONY" DIAMOND FROM PARTNER'S NECKTIE AT A DANCE

An engineer on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad is the butt of quite a good deal of jollying from his fellow workmen as the result of his attending the firemen's ball in Odeon hall last Friday evening. Here is the story and it certainly has something "new" on anything that has been told about town for some time.

The engineer went to the dance dressed to "kill," wearing in his neck tie a large sized "paste" diamond which had the appearance of being the real thing. As the railroader would glide about the floor with some fair the joke of the act never said a word, but completed him several times appearance of being the damsel the sparkling of the "phony" is sately for the engineer selected a partner who had complimented him several times upon the beauty of his diamond. As the railroader would glide about the floor with some fair damsel the sparkling of the 'phony' diamond would make them blink their eyes in a most extraordinary manner.

The evening had nearly passed when the looking down found that his partner had bitten his 'valued' diamond from his fastenings and had it concealed in her mouth. The engineer appreciating the joke of the act never said a word, but completed the dance and now he is wondering if the young woman has learned the cold, sad truth to the effect that the diamond is only an imitation.

CIVIC RIGHTEOUSNESS IS THE THEME OF REV. MR. HELMICK AT ILIFF CHURCH

At the Hiff Methodist church Sunday morning the Rev. D. M. Helmick preached a forceful sermon on "Civic Bighteousness." He condemned the stockade form of a red light district in the strongest of terms. In part, he said:

I know of no place in the United States where freedom of speech is more fully enjoyed or more freely exercised than right here in Utah. The press, the pulpit, the secular restrum express their opinions fully and freely in language that cannot be misunderstood. Here a spade is called a spade and a cart a cart. But for all this, my subject is a most delicate one. And lest in the warmth of my own feelings I say something which I ought not to say, or say it in language that ought not to be used, or on the other hand lest the fear of offending should cause me to omit that which ought to be said, I have committed my say to paper.

ing should cause me to omit that which ought to be said, I have committed my say to paper.

There are several evils which a municipality has to contend with. Among these are the saloon evil, the gambling evil, and the social evil. The social evil seems to be the most difficult of solution. Sait Lake City has this problem before it now and has had for a great many years, and undoubtedly will have for years to come. The proposition to regulate evil so as to reduce it to its least banefulness, is now up before us. Opinions differ widely as to the best methods. And while this discussion is up, there are many who would bar the clergy from expressing their opinions, or at least would minify their value. A sentlemin said to me a few days ago: "You preachers live too much in another realm; your ideals are too high; your schemes too visionary, to deal with subjects that have baffled the wisdom of the best social economists of the world." I said to him, "Possibly." But while our ideals were high and our schemes visionary, still we ministers of Sait Lake City and every other city come into mighty close touch with conditions that are far from ideal and with evils which are not visionary. "The fact is," I said to him, "we preachers in the course of our pastorial duties come in the closest contact with life from the cradle to the grave and are familiar with every phase of life from the saint to the most debased. And if a man thus informed is not entitled to an opinion on this as well as other questions, I should like to know who is."

The changing of the red light district and settling it in some other locality has been discussed by the press and by the

The changing of the red light district and settling it in some other locality has been discussed by the press and by the people in private for months past. And now a plan is about completed to corral the unfortunate creatures of the underworld in a stockade located in the middle of the block bounded by First and Second South streets and Fourth and Fifth West streets. A careful investigation of this place would convince one that the place was deliberately planned and built up for the carrying on and protection of prostitution. Valuable property has been bought and a large sum of money has been expended, and that not by people very charitably inclined. For thore is nothing in the place or its surroundings that would indicate that the place a reformatory. It looks more like a deliberate plan to make merchandisc out of woman's shame and misfortune than anything looking toward their rescue. And whatever tends to degrade or encourage and protect in their degradation these fallen women, to me is a most darfinable conspiracy against the help-less unfortunates of our city. And the man or the woman win deliberately contributes to the degradation of woman or to their further degradation of woman or to their further degradation of woman or to their further degradation of the scale of humanity as those whom they would debase. Let me give you a pleture of humanity as those whom they would debase. Let me give you a pleture of the red light stocking. (Here the pastor described the plan of the inclusive.) And she who enters there entire from her life the last ray of hone of anything but hell. For that place is surely the entrance there.

We are told that prosilitation is a necessary evil and that the less way to regulate it is to put the license high and thereby drive out the low dives lessen the number of the good ones, and thus restrict it to the better-regulated places. We are told that prosilitation is a necessary evil and that the less that it will always exist why not use the same faciles with this as sou would with the s and faithful to their vows.

The trouble is, if a fallen woman wants to reform she is met with repulse at every turn and every place for making a respectable living is closed to her. Had Christ and the early disciples acted as many of his professed followers act today, the Maskalene would have filled a harlot's grave instead of weeping at her Master's tomb.

No city can afford to be a party to woman's disgrace and shame. To enter nto an agreement, facit or otherwise, to protect crime increases the possibility of greater crimes and an extension of evils already existing. I do hope that the injunction of the stockade on the west side will be made permanent. The loss of those cribs would be but a partial retribution for the contemplated degradation of women.
